

EDDSON JOSE | Artist Biography

Raised and works in San Jose California, Eddson Jose practices his skills in creating digital media art in his pursuit of a BFA in San Jose State University. Eddson grew up in the digital age but loved nature. He enjoys studying the relationship between nature and the manmade. Eddson also enjoys stargazing a result of searching for solidarity, peace, and quiet in the rapidly growing and bustling city of San Jose. His works exhibit an environmental attitude paired with a simplistic recreation of current environmental issues. His recent project involve a multi-perspective outlook of a beneficial setting tracing the concept of the ownership of nature. Other projects incorporate the idea of artificial creations in a digital galaxy.

Eddson's work is mainly digital often using computer programs to create digital art that consist of digital representations of natural elements abstracted by a low polygon or low pixel count. Eddson understands the importance of autodidacticism allowing him to have a large arsenal of software tools whilst being ready to learn and incorporate new and upcoming software and media. Eddson has exhibited in the Herbert Sanders gallery, Gallery 5, and multiple display cabinets in San Jose State University.